The Republican.

L. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1892.

Campaign lies are as thick as the leaves of Valambrosa. The editor of the REPUBLICAN runs upon a new one told on him every day or so; but he has long since learned they don't hurt anybody but the teller and he don't let them trouble him. In one he is represented as betraying a friend in a political race, by a combination, when in fact he was the nominee of his party and had no need of a combination. In another, all the way from Jacksonville to Edwardsville, by the mouth of a particularly able-bodied liar, he is represented as being in a beastly state of intoxication half his time, while every man, woman and child in Jacksonville knows he has been strictly temperate for years. In another he is charged with having announced a negro this season as a candidate for commissioner, free of charge, when every issue of the paper shows that no negro has been announced in its columns, and when all its files show that no one has ever been announced in its columns.

In another he is charged with having put out a circular at some previous election dictating to the free voters of Calhoun the names of the candidates they should vote for, an act of presumption he would not dream of being guilty of, and which he never heard of until a few days ago. In another he is charged with having been indifferent to a bill sent him allowing a disabled man of this county to peddle without license, when the fact is he took great trouble with the bill and passed it through the Senate as the Journal of 1890-91 will show. In another he is charged with treating the Anniston petition for the City Court with great disdain, by jumping up and down on it, spitting on it and performing generally most ridiculous, when in fact he treated it with respect and criticism it alone for the names of some negroes on it, put there without the knowledge of the gentlemen who had the bill and petition in charge; when in fact he met the Anniston committee a few hours after his speech in the Senate in a most amicable spirit and with them came to a compromise honorable and satisfactory to all parties alike.

These are not all the campaign lies the editor of this paper has run up on against in this campaign, but they are specimens, and we give them publicity in order that the world at large may see what the glorious old county of Calhoun is capable of in this line when she tries. In this particular field of endeavor she excels as in everything else. We publish them also that the fresh young candidate may see what is in store for him in the hotter days of August. We old stagers have gotten used to these kind of election methods and have learned that they are to be despised, but the fresh candidate will be troubled when his time comes to receive the shafts of calumny and his spirits will droop, because he will believe that the public will believe them and that defeat will come to him undeserved. But we say to such, let not your hearts be troubled. The great public has long since learned how to measure such methods. The campaign liar can't hurt anybody.

Mr. Grant and the Farmer.

He has always opposed all measures to further tax the farmers. In the Senate of the session of February 1890, an immigration bill was proposed appropriating $10,000 for that purpose. The Montgomery Journal thus reports what Mr. Grant said in speaking against the measure: "No man is more in favor of healthy, honest, conservative development and progress than I, and I dislike to vote against any measure that looks towards legitimate development, but I think this bill will defeat the very objects for which it is intended. I can understand the spirit which is behind the disposition of Senators to support this kind of measures. We have erected a new God in this country called Progress, and many of us daily fall down and worship him with more fervor and devotion than we do the only true and living God. To us a pig iron furnace has become a pagoda full of pagods; a rolling mill is the very entrance gate to heaven, the music of whose hammers is sweeter than the chimes of church bells on Sabbath morning; every iron city is an elysian field, in which are found all delectable things. To us the farm has become bleak mountains and Sahara. We are forgetting the man who tills the soil in the sweet hay fields and pushes the plow in the upturned soil, while living verdure springs up along his footsteps to feed the world. This bill is ostensibly intended to benefit this man; but it is a delusion. State expenditure in cases like this are necessary wasteful and careless. Do not tax the farmer for a scheme that cannot benefit him. He is already taxed enough. Leave this whole matter to enterprise. Let emigrants come in pursuance of natural laws governing the transportation of wealth and population. Let them come as we can assimilate them."

At the Mass meeting in Cleburne County, called for May 2nd by a previous meeting, the Third party was formally inaugurated and a full county ticket put out. It was about the same as named at the first party meeting a few weeks ago.

The Democratic party is in grave peril in Alabama. Every true Democrat in Calhoun county ought to go out to his beat meeting on Saturday, May 14, 1 o'clock p. m. and see that no delegates come to the county convention except conservative, sound Democrats. Every Democrat owes his party and his country this much. If the unthinking and fanatical come to the Convention there will be strife and a split. Let us have harmony and peace.

The Birmingham Age-Herald, which has been fair in its reports of the results in the various counties, and which has kept a table of the delegations for Jones and Kolb, says that Jones has already secured enough of the uncontested delegations to make his undisputed nomination certain. In other words that he has already the majority necessary to a nomination; and that other counties yet to hear from are certain for Jones.

Owing to a telegram calling him out of the county Mr. Grant cannot speak at Bolling Springs church, Sulphur Springs beat, the 7th. He will speak in that beat at a later date, after the county Convention.

Remember that the Democratic beat meetings are called throughout the county for 1 o'clock, Saturday, May 14th.

May 14th will be a day of weal or woe for the Democratic party of Calhoun.

Go to your beat meeting and stand up to the Democratic party.

Democrats do your duty.

Speaking at Rabbit Town.

Hon. L. W. Grant spoke to a large crowd of the sturdy Democratic farmers of Rabbit Town beat Thursday. Col. Caldwell, who was to go with him and make a speech for the party, was kept away by an unexpected attack of vertigo the day before. The speech did much good and a good report may be expected from Rabbit Town the 14th of May.

Mr. Grant speaks today (Friday) at White Plains. All that lovely valley will turn out her brave Democrats and a regular Democratic love feast will be expected. If Col. Caldwell is sufficiently recovered, he will go to the White Plains appointment.

COMMITTEE ADDRESS.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF CALHOUN:

At a recent meeting of your County Executive Committee, which called a County Convention, certain rules and regulations for the guidance of the party in its action in the coming beat meetings, which were promulgated by the State Democratic Executive Committee, were adopted. Those rules were adopted in the interest of harmony in the party, and to draw closer the loose cords of discipline, so that none but Democrats shall participate in the selection of delegates to Democratic Conventions.

By resolution of your Committee, the resolution of the State Committee defining the qualification and the resolution of the State Committee right to vote in beat meetings for the selection of delegates to your County Convention was adopted. By that resolution the right to vote and participate in beat meetings for the purpose of selecting delegates to the County Convention, is confined to the following named persons, viz:

1st. To those who voted the Democratic ticket at the last State and Congressional Elections.

2nd. To those who, having failed to vote at said elections, or either of them, have heretofore habitually voted that ticket and intend to support it in the ensuing elections.

3rd. And to those who have become voters since the last election.

4th. And to those who will become voters by the next election, and who intend to vote the Democratic ticket.

It is insisted by your committee that none be allowed to participate in the various beat meetings of your county for the selection of delegates to your coming county convention unless they come under the terms of foregoing qualifications. Men who voted against the Democratic nominees in the last State and Congressional elections, should not be allowed to participate in the beat meetings. Democrats must control the Democratic party.

H. L. STEVENSON, Chairman.

PROMPTLY DENIED.

Hon. L. W. Grant Says He Has Always Warmly Supported The Nominee.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., May 4.

From Anniston Hot Blast May 4th.

EDITOR HOT BLAST:—In your issue of this morning (May 4th.) I notice an anonymous communication which charges me with having solicited some one to procure an independent candidacy against Mr. Cooper, who was the nominee of the Democratic party for the Legislature in 1890. There is no truth in the statement. On the contrary I gave Mr. Cooper a prompt and loyal support. The County Convention which nominated Mr. Cooper met April 15th, 1890. By reference to my file, I find that in the first issue of the Republican, three days thereafter, I ran the name of Mr. Cooper up to its mast head and editorially complimented him as a large and prosperous farmer. In the same issue is also reproduced a complimentary notice of him from The Hot Blast. I voted for him cheerfully. I have never failed to support the nominees of my party, although in doing so I have sometimes had to antagonize close personal friends. L. W. GRANT.

Letter From Nances Creek.

NANCES CREEK, May 4 1892.

ED. REPUBLICAN: Of late I have been studying the records of our Democratic party and its trials and ups and downs from its origin up to date and I find all along through the history of the Democratic party, men who want to be leaders but they fail from some cause or other, often for want of ability, and they have become dissatisfied because they can't get the people to recognize their claims, when in fact they never had even the shadow of a claim upon the party and that is the cause today. Why some of our people want to get up strife in our ranks and go out after the third party they try to array the country people against the town, or the town people against the country people, and I will say I believe such men to be enemies to both and should be treated as such. There are demagogues who attempt this sort of thing for their own selfish purposes, and they do not hesitate to misrepresent facts or anything else in their appeals to passion and prejudice. The towns are the natural outgrowth of the settlements of the country upon which they depend for support. There is the closest identity of interest, because they are mutually dependent upon each other, and there should be the most complete harmony and kindly feeling between them. Only the demagogues would seek to have it otherwise.

Now, these parties, or some of those who are adopting the third party in this county, and I find the Democratic party has stood the test of about fifteen third party moves. In 1812 the Clinton democracy was born and died the same year. In 1826 the anti-masonic party was born and died in 1832. The Liberty party was born in 1840 and died in 1844. The free soil party was born in 1848 and died in 1852. The Know-nothing party was born in 1856 and died in 1860. The Liberal Republican party was born in 1872 and died in 1872. The Temperance party was born and died the same year, as also did the Labor Reform party. The American National party was born in 1875 and died in 1876. The Greenback party was born in 1875 and died in 1880 and several others, but last and least in Calhoun county, at Nances Creek, there was born on April 8, a third party without a name and without a father, and lived about three hours, and the men who advocated this party failed to name it and thus it will go down in history as a fatherless party. Now we are asked to vote for men these days who we can't find. Just which one of the parties they belong, whether any of the old parties named above or the last named party.

We are not going to be led by every wind of doctrine. We have men who have all through the trials of the Democratic party stood upon her decks and fought her battles when it was dangerous. So we have men who stood up to us in dark days when they tried news' stories, and how can men who claim to love their families forget the deeds of such men as Lon W. Grant? Hasn't he been a life long Democrat? Has he ever failed the people? Does his record in the Legislature and Senate of Alabama prove that he is the peoples friend? Look at his record; put your finger upon one act of his as a Legislator where he failed to keep his promise to his people. What vote of his was ever against the farmers or working-men of Calhoun? Not one can be found and why don't some of his opponents bring one charge against his record? No, they fail for want of facts. He is a citizen of this county and a man of strong convictions. He has a right to differ with us and a man who would fail to carry out his conscientious convictions is unworthy of our support, and if he made a good member of the legislature why would he not make just as good or better member of congress?

We believe he will. We are going to try him, and I fully believe when he has represented our new district in the congress the people will point to him with pride, and when the farmer and workmen make a demand on congress that is right, that he will be the first to work, speak and vote for the same. Let us stay by our friends in whom we have trusted and in whom we can trust.

A WORKING MAN.

There is no doubt but that there are candidates for congress in the fourth district whose platforms have never been announced further than that "I am for myself for congress. I want the office for the money that there is in it." Not a word about representation of the people's interest. Can a suffering people nominate and elect such men? Then we have least one candidate who is manly enough to confess that he stands upon the Ocala platform. It affords us the greatest of pleasure to announce that there are at least two candidates in this district who are on neither of these unreliable platforms; but are before the people on the broad principles of democracy and tariff reform. We refer to the young, strong and steadfast exponents of Democratic principles and white supremacy, Hons. Lon Grant and Cecil Browne.—Calera Journal.

L. W. Grant has been a faithful official in the lesser walks of life and will be as faithful to his constituents and the entire district if elected to Congress.—Hot Blast.

Grant is making friends every day by his sturdy devotion to democracy.—Hot Blast.

COL. CALDWELL'S SPEECH.

Synopsis of a Soldier, Patriot and Statesman's Speech.

In his speech at the decoration of the soldiers' graves at Jacksonville on the 26th of April Col. John H. Caldwell expressed sentiments that the Hot Blast wishes every man beyond Mason and Dixon's line could have heard. Col. Caldwell is intense Southern. There never was a pulsation of his heart that did not beat for the land of his nativity, the land for which he exposed his life on many a hard fought battle field. He beautifully and eloquently said that a veteran's heart would have to be stilled in death ere it refused to respond to the tokens of affection being heaped on the graves of the men "who dared to do or die"—men who did not in passion, but for a principle. He thanked the orators who had preceded him for what they said about the gallantry of his competers, and told parents to teach their children the principles for which their fathers died.

He alluded to the fact that we did not assemble around the graves of our dead heroes as our friends of the North did. They rejoiced in victory. Our banner had been furled, and it was sometimes represented as "the lost cause," and he was glad to see so many assembled to do honor to that cause. We were sometimes called rebels. He thanked God that the North had never had the hardihood to assert in their courts that we were rebels, and no foreign power had ever designated us as such. His designation of those brave men were that they were patriots, and his words found a responsive answer in the heart of every true Southerner present. He resented in the strongest manner the idea of a new South. The old South was the South he loved. It was as old as the constitution itself, and was more illustrious today than it ever was. When he so feelingly alluded to the fact the name of Jefferson Davis would adorn the brightest pages of history he was greeted with applause. He said he did not come there to discuss the principles that led to the war, but like an old horse that had been in the habit of running away when he heard the traces rattle—the speaker wanted to branch out when he met face to face the people who loved the Confederate cause on an occasion like that.

Personal liberty and States' rights were the two leading principles for which they fought, and he compared the courage and fidelity to principle of the Southern people to that of the Scottish covenanter in 1685, when they were being hewn down by Clarendon and his band of brutal ruffians. When the doctrines of the prelates were being forced upon those people they rebelled, just as we did in '61. There was a religious, ours a civil cause, and every little distance along through the hills of Scotland and in her fertile valleys the descendants of those who lost their lives in defense of principle and right, had built a chapel or erected a monument to the memory of those heroes. His picture from Walter Scott of old Robert Patterson going about Scotland with chisel in hand cutting deeper the names of those who had died for conscience sake, was pathetic in its simplicity, and the name of "Old Mortality" as it rang from Col. Caldwell's lips will never be forgotten by those who heard him.

He then alluded to the custom of the children coming there each year and spreading sweet flowers on the graves of the dead—treating the private with the same consideration that they did the titled hero. At this juncture he read over the names of some of the soldiers of Calhoun and paid a touching tribute to the memory of some of them. Calhoun, he said, sent more men to the front than she had voters. Of Peter Foreney, he said: "He was such a patriot that he wanted to secede before breakfast." * * * and he always spoke his convictions and spoke the truth."

The readers of The Hot Blast can gather from the foregoing how intensely Southern Col. Caldwell's feelings are. He then uttered sentiments worthy of a statesman and a patriot, when he told the children not to fail to spread flowers on the graves of the unknown Federal soldier who lay within that enclosure. The soldier fought for what he thought was right, and back in the granite hills of Vermont or on the rolling prairies of Illinois that unknown soldier had a mother. The women of the North had buried all animosity of a personal nature and strewed the graves of Southern men with flowers the same that they did the Northern soldier, and let the Southern women do likewise upon that occasion.

There was another grave, he said, that should not be forgotten, and that was the grave of an humble negro. That faithful old servant had begged his master to let him, go to the front and take care of his young master, a mere youth in years and almost effeminate in person. He went, and thought that long struggle of four years, that faithful old negro, true to his convictions as a southerner and true to the trust reposed in him, was at the side of his youthful master—L. W. Grant—in every hard fought battle, protecting him, as it were, with his own body from the shot and shell of the enemy.

And in that self, balmy southern atmosphere, with the mountains just budding into loveliness and that seemed to smile down their approval, southern women and children, with the purest blood of the Southern cavalier coursing through their veins, and with eyes so blue that they rivaled the blue dome of heaven itself, bent low over the grave of the unknown yankee soldier and of old black Alf Grant, and spread flowers as unthinkingly as they did on the grave of any Confederate soldier. In that moment our heart went out to Col. Caldwell as it had never done before. We loved him for his candor, his manliness, his generosity and for his tender feeling for the lone yankee soldier resting among the Confederate dead, and for tribute he paid to faithful old Alf, the negro patriot.

A MONUMENT TO PELHAM.

Why Not Start a Fund to Erect One at Once?

In the northeast corner of the Jacksonville cemetery lies the body of as gallant a Confederate soldier as ever drew a sword. He died in the early dawn of a brilliant young manhood—died a soldier's death in defence of the cause he loved so well. This grave is shaded from the morning sun by several giant oaks standing near, but the slanting rays of the orb of day kisses this sacred mound as they sink in softness and beauty behind the western hills. While shells of about three inches in diameter cover the grave and a plain marble shaft about a foot in diameter at the base and 4 1/2 inches at the top stands at the head. The shells had their oval side turned up and were fastened in position in cement, and shaft and shells had both been given a coating which made them shine with a snowy whiteness—typical of the spotless career of the dauntless soldier who lay beneath.

There was no name on that plain little shaft to tell who lay beneath it. But for the care taken of the mound by loving hands the world would judge that the sleeper was to fame unknown and his name lost to all mankind. But such is not the fact—for beneath that mound lies the body of John Pelham—(gallant John Pelham, who died on the battle field in old Virginia. There was a peculiar pathos surrounding the unmarked grave of this hero of the "lost cause." He needs no marble shaft to tell the world that he was great. His name as a soldier adorns the pages of history and his valor as a Confederate soldier is known wherever bravery is appreciated and greatness honored.

His family have the means to build a suitable monument to his memory, but John Pelham's grave does not belong to them alone—it belongs to the Confederacy. Every man and every woman who loved the "lost cause" has an interest in that grave, and when the letters are out on the marble shaft to mark his last resting place a whole nation ought to share in the undertaking. The Pelham family have acted right. While his body is there his fame is ours, and we claim the privilege of contributing our humble mite toward erecting a suitable monument to mark his last resting place.

The Hot Blast has not hinted to any one connected with the illustrious dead what it intended to do, but we feel that the time has come for some one to take up the task of starting a fund to build a monument to Calhoun's Alabama's, the South's gallant son—John Pelham.

Several old soldiers have told us that they would give of their means to that end, and the Hot Blast now calls upon all who wish to contribute to that object to forward the amount they wish to give to this paper, and it will be deposited in some bank to the credit of the "Pelham Monument Fund," and be turned over to the Pelham Monument Association as soon as one is organized. And right here the Hot Blast would call upon the ladies of Jacksonville to organize such an organization and at the same time we promise them the hearty co-operation of the city of Anniston and Oxford. Let Prof. Gibson's Normal School children, who covered themselves with so much glory the other day, organize a little society and work in such manner as they see proper to this end. Let the ladies of Alexandria Valley, the birthplace of the subject of this article, do likewise, and all other sections of the county follow their example, and in the space of one short year the funds necessary to build the monument will have been raised, and in another year the monument can be in position.

The Hot Blast will acknowledge through its columns all sums sent in for the purpose indicated, and would suggest that The Mountain Miles, The Anniston Rifles and The Woodstock Guards join hands in helping to push so noble an undertaking. The Hot Blast feels that it is only necessary for some one to take the initiative, and the people will do the rest. We know it is a bad time to start such an undertaking, "but out of the fullness of the heart the month speaketh," and once started the idea of building this monument will sweep over Alabama and the entire South like a resistless billow of the ocean.

Rhodes, the gallant and heroic general that he was, sleeps the sleep that knows no waking in Virginia's sacred soil. Pelham's body lies beneath the sod of the State and country that gave him birth, and it is fitting that the monument fund to his memory should start among the people who knew him as a prattling child, saw him romp over the field as a sunny-haired, blue eyed boy, and watched the rich, royal blood of his vigorous young manhood ebb away on the battle field. Let the signal go up from Calhoun that a monument is to be erected to his memory and an answer will flash back from the dome of the old capitol at Tuscaloosa in hearty accord. The people at the present capitol, the home of Jones, of Allen, Holzclaw, and others will join in, and the old residence of Alpheus Baker on the banks of the Chattahoochee will answer, "We are with you!"

The quarterly city by the Gulf that boasts such men as Admiral Semmes, will shout the glad news to Huntsville, at Mount Sans's picturesque base, and in a short while the necessary amount will be forth coming.

The Hot Blast would suggest that the monument be made of Alabama marble, as near a Confederate gray as possible, and would ask the press of the state to open subscriptions as we have suggested, and we will all meet in Jacksonville two years from now when the unveiling shall take place. Let the press of Alabama take a prominent part in building this monument.

The Hot Blast pledges $1,000 from Calhoun county.

Let us hear from those interested in the matter.

Messrs. Walt Dean, W. B. Crook, James Crow and Gus Edwards, left Friday morning by private conveyance for Asheville. They will take in the picnic at St. Clair Springs Saturday and return next week.

It is said that the man who has insinuated through the Hot Blast that Mr. Grant was soliciting a gentleman to run against Mr. Cooper on an independent ticket, is a red hot third party man.

The following is a list of the Petit Jurors for the 2nd week of Circuit Court:

No. 1.—Dan C. Doss, Robert De-freese, Jonathan Pruitt, Robt Steele, Thos Reynolds, A. J. Farmer, R. C. Alexander, Jeff Word, J. A. Prickett, J. R. Pollock, Asberry Bonds, W. D. Holcomb.

No. 2.—Noah Read, J. E. Canada, Jno Glover, L. F. Green, Wm Sisson, F. M. Sumnerall, Jno. Greenwood, J. H. Hughes, L. O. Hanks, Marion Smith, Samuel Fite, R. F. Hughes, Wallace Lusk, extra.

The annual May picnic of the Normal School was given at Sulphur Springs, seven miles west of this place on the East & West road, last Tuesday. The East & West road ran two excursion trains from this place out there, one leaving at 8:30 and the other at 10 o'clock a. m. Both trains carried large crowds from here to the picnic grounds, and before the hour for dinner had arrived there were assembled at Sulphur Spring about four or five hundred people, large crowds coming in by private conveyance, and all proceeded to have a good time. After dinner was over the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner by all until time to return home. Some of the principal features of the day were foot racing by a number of young ladies, and base ball by the young men. Several prizes were awarded.

Hon. Phil Cooper was in Jacksonville Wednesday. He happened to walk up to the court house as some one was reading the anonymous attack on Mr. Grants party fealty in the Hot Blast of that morning.

"Wait until you see the Hot Blast of tomorrow," said Mr. Cooper, "and you will see that charge explained."

Mr. Cooper laughed at the story as absurd.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Will be For Grant.

HENRON, May 2.—ED HOT BLAST: Hon. J. W. Grant spoke at Onitche Friday 29th, and at Peck's Hill Saturday 30th, in behalf of white unity and the Democratic party. He showed conclusively the dangers of white division at this time. His speeches have effectually checked any tendency toward the Third party in this section of the county. Mr. Grant will most certainly get the delegates from Peck's Hill and Onitche beats and, in fact, the delegates from the entire western part of the county. It pays to be a true and brave Democrat in old Calhoun.

CITIZEN.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Sumter county gave Kolb 716 and Jones 653. The delegates will be prorated.

Walker county gave Jones 1131 and Kolb 435. The delegates will be prorated.

Lee County on popular vote at general primary election gave Jones 518 majority. The delegation goes solid to Jones.

Lauderdale Convention gives 3 delegates to Jones and 2 to Kolb.

Russell county has gone for Jones and Gates.

Tandolph county has gone for Jones.

The grand jury in session at Jacksonville took a poll yesterday, which resulted as follows: Cleveland 11, Hill 10, Jones 14, Kolb 7, Grant 16, with five against him, but with no choice as to anybody else. That is about the sentiment of the people all over the county as to their choice of the respective candidates.—Hot Blast May 1st.

It is understood that a plan is on foot to build a big hotel at Sulphur Springs, on the East & West railroad, six miles out from Jacksonville. This spring has the reputation of being one of the best sulphur springs in the South, and no doubt a good hotel there would pay. It would prevent many dollars from being sent elsewhere, that could just as well be kept at home. People will go to the springs, you know, and let's arrange to bring a good many from a distance to Calhoun.—Hot Blast.

The Calera Journal, discussing the Alliance, says: "Its organic law is good, its declaration of purposes are excellent, and if the dishonest and broken down lawyers, unrighteous preachers, cranky doctors and selfish speculators had been excluded, the purposes to which it looked would have been advanced."

Not a single convincing reason can be shown why L. W. Grant should not be the first Congressman from the new fourth district. He is a man of unimpeachable integrity, of well known ability, uncompromising democrat and a true friend to his section and his people.—Hot Blast.

Notice is given that all claims against the Common Fund of Calhoun County up to and including Registered Number 120 of 1891 must be presented for payment before May 1st 1892 as the interest on said claims will close at that date.

J. Y. HENDERSON, County Treasurer.

Grand Jury Supper.

Mr. J. D. Hammond, Foreman of the Grand Jury had a reception and dining at the hotel of Mr. Stevenson, for the Grand Jury last night, the 4th inst. After Mr. Hammond had met his friends, they were invited into the dining room with too many nice things to mention. After supper they were served with strawberries and cream. And then Judge Box was called on for a toast to the unity of the Democratic party, and he spoke a toast of about 15 minutes, which if he could make all over the state there no doubt would be but very few to split off from the Democratic party. Then Hon. Tom Martin was called on for a toast on the Governor and he responded in a ten minutes talk which was the best political talk that I have heard in some time.

Then Hon. Jno. D. Hammond was called on for a toast to the most available man for the presidency, and he spoke about ten minutes advocating Hill, of New York, as the man to lead us to victory. We would be afraid for Mr. Hammond to make this talk over the State for fear he would divide the delegation against Cleveland.

GRAD JURYMEN.

The recently elected United States Senator of Georgia, General John B. Gordon, says:

Mr. A. K. Hawkes—Dear Sir: The pantiscope glasses you furnished me some time since give excellent satisfaction. I have tested them by use, and must say they are unequalled in clearness and brilliancy by any that I have ever worn.

Respectfully,

JOHN B. GORDON, Ex-Governor of State of Georgia.

Genial May is here at last.

The brightest month of the year;

The flowers are blooming, the trees are in leaf.

And the whole green earth is fair.

This is the picnic season.

For the inside and her wear;

And for the same good reason.

The old folks and children must go.

People who long for the country air.

Pay their toll to the woods on the train;

The "chigger" pays no railroad fare,

But he gets there—just the same!

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

JACKSONVILLE, AAL., May 3rd, 1892.

HIRAM LODGE No. 42, F. A. M., Jerome M. Vansandt was born July 17th 1854. Called from labor to refreshment April 4th 1892. He was a member of the Baptist church for a number of years and was a Christ-like consistent christian. He had an ardent love for the church, and an earnest desire for its prosperity, and identified himself with every effort to promote its welfare. Especially was he the friend and constant supporter of his pastor. He was of a quiet and reserved temperament; many graces were exemplified in his life, none shone brighter than his unselfish generosity. Our brother was not only a consistent christian but a model master mason—he was never known to work with untimely mortar—he was always busily engaged with trowel spreading the cement of brotherly love. Countless have been his acts of kindness to the poor and needy, the widow and orphan. When the Master called him, without a struggle, he laid aside his working tools, for refreshment, and his spirit was transported from a life of suffering to one of sweetest rest. Great his gain—great our loss. Therefore

Resolved, That while we feel our loss nevertheless we bow with humble submission to the will of God, our Father, believing that "all things work together for good to them that love God."

Resolved 2nd, That we extend our sympathy to his bereaved, especially to his lonely widow, praying Him who has promised to be the "husband of the widow" to keep her under the shadow of His wing.

Resolved 3rd, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished sister Vansandt by the society of this lodge, and that a copy be also furnished the JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN for publication.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

Hon. Leroy F. Box Judge Seventh Judicial Circuit, presiding:

The Grand Jury empaneled by your Honor for this term with very great respect report that we have with due diligence inquired into and investigated all complaints against the peace and dignity of the State brought to our knowledge.

We are truly gratified to believe that crime is on the decrease, and for six months has been less than former years and not of so grave and serious character. By far, the greater number of offences reported for our consideration have been of the more frivolous class of misdemeanors. A very large per cent. being for illicit traffic in spirituous liquors.

We have heard and investigated 99 complaints, and examined three hundred and seventy-one witnesses, and returned forty-three bills of indictment. Our action has been governed by what we conceived to be, from the evidence and circumstances, for the best interest of society.

The report from every portion of our county upon the condition of the public roads have been of the most favorable character, and all heartily endorse the present road system.

The officers required by law to make report to the Grand Jury have done so promptly and conscientiously.

The county jail in its appointments for safety, ventilation and light are good and satisfactory. The management we think to be good, and the prisoners well cared for. We would call attention to the furnace for the disposition of the excrements of the inmates which was in good condition. This arises from a want of proper attention upon the part of the jailor or imperfect construction. We are glad however, that the agent of Rattan Manufacturing Company, for the steam system of dry chests, was here this week looking after the repairs without any expense to the county. We say this much for the purpose only of calling attention to our Hon. Commissioners of our county having confidence in their good judgment who will not allow the interest of the county to suffer.

The indigent and poor are being well cared for. The houses and premises are clean and in good sanitary condition. The inmates say they are well fed, and have good and sufficient medical attention. The bedding is clean and sufficient, and Mr. Penit, the manager, is humane and kind in his management and treatment.

The books of the County Treasurer are neatly kept. The financial standing in good condition and the indebtedness less than for many years.

The Judge of Probate office shows order and system. The access to books and papers easy and convenient, the books neat and in proper forms. The Judge and his efficient corps of clerks urbane and accommodating.

The County Clerk's office and books are a model of neatness and business system.

The Sheriff's office and books are in good form and condition and in every way satisfactory to this body.

The County Superintendent of Education's books are neat and well kept and stand in satisfactory with the State and teachers.

We find the Court House to be in good condition, and thank the Hon. Commissioners court for the recent public conveniences added to the building supplying a most indispensable.

We tender to Hon. J. T. Martin, solicitor, our sincere thanks for his urbanity, his pains-taking care in the discharge of his official duties. And express our high esteem and appreciation of the low and comprehensive charge given to us, and the urbanity and kindness shown to us by his Hon. Leroy F. Box.

We tender to L. P. Carpenter, Sheriff and his Deputies, our thanks for many acts of kindness and uniform courtesies shown us. And more especially do we thank Mr. Joe Whisenant for his prompt and dignified discharge of duties as our bailiff.

Feeling that we discharged the duties for which we were empaneled and having no further business of great importance, would most respectfully ask your honor to be discharged.

J. D. HAMMOND, Foreman.

S. N. MILLIGAN, A. L. STEWART, Clerks.

Dont forget to close the stores at 6 o'clock continuing next Monday evening.

FOR DESPESIA, Indigestion, and Stomach disorders, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. All dealers keep it. It is perfect. Genuine. Has trade-mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

Mrs. Jno F. Bondurant, of north Birmingham, the mother of Clifton Bondurant is visiting the family of Mr. C. E. Bondurant this week.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

The merchants around the public square have all agreed to close their doors promptly at 6 o'clock after this week. This will give clerks and employees a few hours for recreation, and those who are in the habit of trading after this hour will in the future have to do their trading before time for closing.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The Grand Jury gave a banquet at the Tredegar Inn last Friday night in honor of Hon. J. D. Hammond, foreman of the Grand Jury.

At 8 o'clock p. m., the Jury with a few invited guests repaired to the dining room where they found every thing necessary to satisfy the inner man. Mr. S. N. Milligan, one of the committee on invitations, explained in a very short speech the purpose of the occasion. Mr. Hammond replied in a talk of about ten minutes in which he thanked the Jury for the manner in which they had shown to him their appreciation of his kind and courteous respect shown them in presiding as foreman. Judge Box was then called on to ask the blessing, after which those present enjoyed an elegant repast, just such as the luminable L. W. Gasser, Manager of the Inn, is capable of getting up on such occasions. Between the different courses served, a number of those present were called on for toasts—"Judge Box on 'Tariff,'" Solicitor Martin "The Unity of the Democratic Party," S. D. G. Brothers, "The Most Available Man for the Presidency," Col. Ellis "The Most Available Man for Governor," Col. Caldwell "The Farmer of the Country," Jno. D. Hammond "Why are We Democrats," and several others on questions of minor importance.

Mr. Milligan was then called on by several of the Jurymen for a toast to Hon. J. D. Hammond, foreman of the Jury. He arose and in a short speech paid him some very high compliments for the able, courteous and pleasing way in which he had acted as foreman. The hour for departure having arrived Mr. Hammond again thanked the Jury for the honor they had shown him on the occasion, and all were invited to the parlors of the Inn where sometime was spent in a jovial manner. By all present the occasion was pronounced a success.

THE GEORGIA PRESS

Preparations Being Made for Their Southern Excursion.

ATLANTA, May 28.—Two weeks ago I notified the members of the Georgia Weekly Press association that Colonel B. W. Wrenn, general passenger and ticket agent of the E. T. & G. railroad had tendered the members of our association the use of his road from Rome, Ga., to Meridian, Miss., a distance of 391 miles. I now am indeed glad to inform them that further tender has been made for Colonel D. G. Edwards, general passenger agent of the Queen and Crescent route, has tendered the use of his road from Meridian to New Orleans or Shreveport, La., a distance of over 300 miles or more.

From either point, connections can be made with the Texas Pacific railway which leads to El Paso, Texas, a distance of 1,200 miles more. It seems now that the Mexican route will not extend coastwise. This being the case, it will be less expensive, and if we are entertained, as I anticipate, the cost should not exceed $25 each.

Members going on the excursion should notify me at once so I can secure the passes. Those in Georgia will undoubtedly furnish passes to Rome to members not having same and I will secure such if notified in time. New papers joining at Rome will be entitled to same courtesies as regards transportation and all those desiring to join should write me at once to secure their passes.

Hon. Clark Howell has promised to assist me in securing Pullman Palace Cars for the trip, and with his assistance I hope to secure the same courtesy from the Pullman People as were extended to us last year. Yours fraternally, CHAS. D. BAKER, Corresponding Secretary, Georgia Weekly Press Association.

ATLANTA, May 28.—A horrible case of parental brutality is reported from the Alton county. While two white boys were playing, about two miles from Alton, they discovered a colored boy chained to a pine tree. He was in a deplorable condition, and nearly starved to death. His only sustenance was a small piece of bread. The boys reported their discovery, which led to the arrest of Isaac Alston and Jane, his wife. Alston is the stepfather of the boy, whose name is Abram, and has been known to can the boy in the house and beat him. The brutal parents were lodged in jail, and the boy will be sent to the asylum at Columbia.

Train Robbers in Florida.

PALATKA, Fla., May 23.—The Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West north bound express and fast mail train was held up by four masked men at Moore, Fla., at 1:30 o'clock.

Two men got on the engine and two men entered the express car, killing Express Messenger W. N. Saunders, wounding Traveling Express Agent J. M. Conner.

The train crew scared them off. They did not obtain any express matter.

The robbers were traced into a large swamp near by, which is being surrounded by a large posse of men.

WORK IN CONGRESS.

THE MOST IMPORTANT MATTERS CULLED AND CONDENSED.

Notable Events in the Legislative and Executive Branches of the National Government.

Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The funeral services over the remains of the late Senator Harbison, of Virginia, engaged the senate. The house attended in a body, the cabinet, the diplomatic corps, the senior members of the navy and the commissioner of the District of Columbia, were upon the floor during the services. Senator Harbison's chair was draped in black.

Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—In the senate, the naval appropriation bill was under consideration, without any important action.

The house wrangled over items in the sundry civil appropriations bill today, and got along so slowly that several days more must elapse before the measure can be reported to the house.

Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The senate resumed the consideration of the naval appropriation bill.

The house is in committee of the whole on the sundry civil bill.

Thursday.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—In the senate, Mr. McPherson gave notice that when the river and harbor appropriation bill should be brought before the senate for consideration he would move to recommend it to the committee on commerce, with instructions to report it back with such amendments as will exclude from it all authorization for new contracts for material and work, and as will also proportionately reduce by 25 per cent. the entire amount appropriated.

Friday.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Once more the third party, represented by Mr. Watson, of Tennessee, attempted to secure consideration of the resolution requesting the ways and means committee to report the sundry civil bill, and once more the demand for the regular order operated as an objection. After the call of the committee for reports, the house went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil bill.

After routine business, the senate resumed consideration of the river and harbor bill, and various amendments of small importance were offered and agreed to.

Saturday.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Mr. McPherson, of Tennessee, from the committee on rules, reported the resolution that the hour for meeting of the house each day shall be 11 o'clock. Adopted. The house then went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

CHICAGO DELEGATES.

GEORGIA'S CONVENTION WAS A CLEVELAND VICTORY.

Some Other States That Have Acted the Past Week—The Work That Was Accomplished.

ATLANTA, May 19.—The Democratic hosts of Georgia, through their representatives, met in convention in the hall of the house of representatives promptly at 12 o'clock.

The convention was called to order by Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, chairman of the state Democratic committee, who made a ringing, old-time Democratic speech, in which he declared his unbounded faith in the party, and predicted a grand victory at the coming election.

The first business in order was the election of temporary officers.

Hon. Pope Barrow of Clarke county, and Hon. J. W. Robertson of Habersham county, were placed in nomination and upon the call of counties Mr. Barrow was declared elected chairman of the convention. The election was subsequently made unanimous.

Upon taking the chair, Mr. Barrow delivered an eloquent and patriotic address, in which he returned thanks to the convention for their confidence and claimed that, from the fact that his ancestors for generations back were from good old Georgia stock he felt at home in an assembly of Georgians.

It is his desire, he said, that the Georgia delegates to the Cleveland convention be a support of the ex-president, and was the candidate named by the Cleveland element in caucus before the convention assembled.

Upon motion of Mr. Garrard of Muscogee, a committee consisting of one delegate from each congressional district was appointed upon credentials.

Immediately after the announcement of the committee by the chairman the delegates assembled and reported to the convention the authorized representation.

After recess, the committee on credentials presented the lists of delegates from all the counties as regular, except in the case of Clay county, where the committee of Clay and Fulton, there, each presenting two contesting delegations.

Hon. T. W. Rucker, from Clarke, chairman of the committee, reported that in the case of Clay county, each delegation be seated and allowed to cast one vote in the convention.

In the case of Fulton county's contest, Chairman Rucker reported that the committee recognized the right of the delegation chosen at the mass meeting, and that Mr. Simmons, of Fulton, had been elected to represent the county in the convention.

The First Gun.

This report was the signal for the Hill men to make a stand, and attempt to stay the Cleveland tide that seemed to be sweeping over the convention; and no other more gallant leader could be seen than Mr. Simmons, of Fulton, who offered as a substitute for the report of the committee, a resolution seating the delegates chosen by a subsequent meeting, and known as the "compromise delegation."

Mr. Simmons, at Mr. Simmons' demand a call of the house and the vote taken by counties. "There are upon this floor," said Mr. Simmons, "hundreds of persons who are not entitled to a voice in the convention, and yet who, upon every question, send up a resolution of Gwynnett, who offered as a substitute for the report of the committee, a resolution seating the delegates chosen by a subsequent meeting, and known as the 'compromise delegation.'"

The call was taken upon the substitute offered by Mr. Simmons, and resulted in a vote of 157 yeas and 171 nays, the substitute was lost.

The report of the committee was then adopted, and the mass meeting delegation seated.

The convention then proceeded to the election of four delegates from the state to the Cleveland convention.

The following gentlemen were placed in nomination:

F. H. Richardson of Fulton.
E. G. Duglison of Chatham.
D. C. Gentry of Bibb.
James M. Smith of Oglethorpe.
Patrick Walsh of Richmond.
Evan P. Howell of Fulton.
James M. Dupree of Macon.

After the ballot had proceeded almost to close, and it had become evident that the first four candidates named above were the choice of the convention, Hon. Boykin Wright of Richmond, who had placed the name of Mr. Walsh in nomination, moved to make him a public witness and petro integrity, in the development of our vast resources, spread education, the promotion of religion, the advancement and cultivation of a fraternal spirit. By these noble aims and lofty purposes we shall best promote the cause of government and evidence our appreciation of the services and sacrifices of our revolutionary sires.

SULLIVAN'S PHYSICAL CONDITION.

The Doctor Says John L. Is Perfectly Healthy and in Fine Shape.

NEW YORK, May 23.—John L. Sullivan underwent, for the first time in his life, a thorough physical examination at the hands of Dr. George F. Shrady. The results will greatly surprise the thousands of admirers. After looking over the massive frame of the pugilistic champion with a great deal of care and thoroughness, the examination requiring one hour, Dr. Shrady said:

"In all my life I have never seen such a magnificent specimen of muscular development, and I do not think that any other such man is living today. You are in perfect health, Mr. Sullivan. Your heart, liver, stomach, lungs and other organs are all performing their work properly. You are physically sound, and with some of the superfluous flesh in the abdominal region removed, four powers of endurance would be remarkable."

Deacon Gets One Year.

Nice, May 23.—Deacon, the American who slew Abbot for intimacy with his wife, has been sentenced to one year's imprisonment. A large number of French journalists and some representatives of foreign newspapers were present. CRATIC STATE CONVENTION HAS ADJOURNED after electing four delegates at large to the national convention and ratifying the nominations of the seven district conventions.

The platform, as submitted by a majority of the committee on resolutions was unanimously adopted after some debate late in the afternoon. During the recess early in the evening the delegates at large were seated upon, and there was no contest at the evening session. The following are the delegates:

W. W. Foote, Stephen M. White, J. O. Coleman and A. B. Butler. They announced before the convention that they were in favor of the nomination of Grover Cleveland.

The convention adjourned with three cheers for Cleveland.

The sixth congressional district—the only one which had not already elected delegates to Cleveland—thirty-three in all, and George S. Patton. Eight of the fourteen district delegates were instructed for Cleveland, and, in fact, the entire delegation is expected to support the ex-president.

From North Carolina.

RALEIGH, May 19.—The state convention is now in session. Delegates to Chicago will be nominated, and all signs point to an official endorsement of Cleveland; yet if the meager minority refuse to accept the Buffalo man, the state will be for Cleveland all up and down.

One of the negroes was then mounted on a horse and placed under one of the ropes. The horse was adjusted and the horse driven from under him. In falling the horse slipped from under his feet and caught above his chin. His hoofs were whirled, and he was heard by the crowd surrounding him.

The other negroes were hanged in the same way. When asked if they cared to make a confession or statement one of them replied:

"No, I'll go to hell before I would say anything about it."

Three More Lynched.

ANNISTON, Ala., May 18.—Three negro men—Will Carter, Jim and Berry Roden—met their death here at the hands of an indignant mob, who swung them to a tree and then riddled their bodies with bullets.

Saturday night Carter and the two Roden boys entered the house of D. C. Bryant, at Childersburg, thirty-three miles south of Anniston, while he was attending a Masonic lodge, and brutally beat Mrs. Bryant, and then dragged her person while she was in an unconscious condition. When the facts were made known until late in the afternoon, when the colored girl who cooks for Mr. Bryant made a statement, giving her part in the affair and the names of the three negro men who had committed the deed.

Yo. Carlisle First.

MADISON, Ind., May 21.—The Democratic of Trimble county, Ky., have instructed for John G. Carlisle for president.

SIX IN ONE DAY.

CLARKSVILLE, Ga., May 18.—The greatest sensation ever known in the history of Habersham county, occurred Monday night.

Sheriff Gastley received a telegram at 6 o'clock from Solicitor Thompson stating that a large crowd was being organized to lynch the negroes held here for the murder of Carter, the night policeman at Tocon, Ga., and at 8 o'clock a telegram from the governor instructing him to make the prisoners secure by placing a strong guard at the jail.

The sheriff having but a little time to work, secured a small force of men to protect the lives of the prisoners. At 9 o'clock 200 well armed men, white and black, surrounded the jail and demanded that they could not gain admittance to the jail and should not harm the prisoners. The mob broke the door open, took the keys by force, unlocked the cells, secured the prisoners and carried them two miles out of town.

The negroes were hung one at a time, all on the same limb. One of the mob climbed the tree, and after tying three ropes to the limb, he descended to the ground.

One of the negroes was then mounted on a horse and placed under one of the ropes. The horse was adjusted and the horse driven from under him. In falling the horse slipped from under his feet and caught above his chin. His hoofs were whirled, and he was heard by the crowd surrounding him.

The other negroes were hanged in the same way. When asked if they cared to make a confession or statement one of them replied:

"No, I'll go to hell before I would say anything about it."

T. S. FLOWMAN, Chm.,
Dem. Ex. Com. 7th Judicial Circuit.

Hon. L. W. Grant was in town Tuesday, having come up from Calhoun, where he spoke Monday night to the Democratic club at that place. He went out to Shelby Tuesday night and spoke to a very enthusiastic gathering of Democrats and will be in the county several days, assisting in the thorough organization of the party.—Columbian Chronicle.

How It is Viewed Abroad.

Copying and speaking of the communication to the Birmingham Age-Herald, touching Mr. Grant's refusal to trade for a delegation at the sacrifice of the interests of the people of Cleburne or Calhoun or the yielding of any of the fairly won delegates of Gov. Jones to Kolb, the Columbian (Shelby County) Chronicle has this to say:

"The noble action as above described of Hon. L. W. Grant is but another link in the chain that binds him to the hearts of his countrymen. Mr. Grant has always reflected credit upon his constituency of Calhoun, and his noble co-workers made Calhoun the stronghold of democracy and the banner county of the state. We take off our hat and make a profound bow to a man whose patriotism elevates him to such unselfish deeds. Should the conduct of a few selfish politicians add Anniston result in the defeat of Mr. Grant, we can only say:

We hold it truth with him who sings
On one clear harp of varied tones,
That men may rise no stepping stones
Of their dead selves to higher things."

Commenting on the outcome of our recent county convention, the Talladega Mountain Home says:

"Mr. Grant lost the delegation on account of a bitter fight being made against him by the Anniston delegation. Mr. Grant's defeat was a surprise to his friends all over the State, but he stands up under it as a true Democrat and submits to the wishes of a majority of his fellow Democrats. The defeat of Mr. Grant in his home county would under different circumstances, no doubt, be stinging, but he is too well understood for him to feel out of sorts. Mr. Grant is a straight Democrat, true and tried, and in the future as in the past will be at the front in the interest of the party."

The Montgomery Journal speaking of it says:

"Calhoun is the home of both Mr. Grant and Mr. Lane. But it may be remarked, incidentally as it were, that Mr. Lane has never been a member of the legislature and antagonized Anniston in its efforts to establish a city court."

Study His Record.

Cedar Bluff Free Press.

Thos. G. Jones has a record as candidate for Governor twice and as the executive of the responsible duties of this office that should be studied by every voter in Alabama. With perfect dignity, leaving out all personalities in his first canvass, he discussed with great clearness and force the principles involved in the campaign. He turned the light of history on some of the legislation of this State in the year 1857 and the dire results that followed. He compared the act creating the State cotton factor and authorizing it to build warehouses for the storage of cotton in competition with its own private citizens and the lending of money through its banks to cotton and land owners, to the present sub-treasury scheme and showed them to be identical in principle and equally inimical to the interests of the farmer and every other class in the State. He pointed to the great loss of the State following this practice and showed that after the most skillful management of Francis Strother Lyon, Robert Jenison and other great financiers, chosen by the State, to get her out from the condition of impending ruin into which she had plunged, that there remained yet from that legislative adventure a bonded indebtedness of $5,000,000, upon the interest of which $200,000 taxes annually are wrung from the present generation, to attest the monumental folly of their fathers in 1857. He has extended the breadth and depth of his discussion in that campaign, in his handling of great questions of statesmanship with logical force and accuracy of historical illustration. He lives in his speeches at Camden, Birmingham and other places, on this line. He never stoops to personalities till forced, for self-defense. He was energized by Kolb in his first canvass for this exemption.

He is the peer of any Governor living and the logical, rightful and, already elected, successor of Thomas Goode Jones.

A wired report from Ex-Mayor Stevenson says that he is now on the borders of Texas and Mexico breaking Mustang ponies.

A Stab at The Governor.

Montgomery Advertiser.

If John B. Gordon, in Georgia did not escape a political charge that he was a coward during the war, and the glorious scar on his face, the last of seven wounds at Sharpsburg, was "caused by a swinging limb," it is not surprising that like malice should make lesser assaults on the same line upon Governor Jones in Alabama. Kolb's organ up in Morgan county says the Governor was a "staff officer" during the war; and conveys the pith of its mean insinuation in the statement, manufactured and put into the mouth of General Forrest, that staff officers as a "class" were conspicuous by their absence from the line of battle.

If it be any comfort to the Governor's enemies we state the fact, well known here, that the Governor, when a seventeen year old boy, bore a musket in Jackson's campaign against Banks in 1862, and that same year enlisted as a private in Company K, Captain Felder, 52nd Alabama Regiment, Col. Hannon, and became first sergeant, and participated in some of its bloodiest battles before he was eighteen years of age. Many of his old comrades in this command are still living in Montgomery, among whom we may mention Major R. B. Snodgrass, Captain Thos. E. Hannon, Sgt. J. A. Boothe, Green D. Milligan, Esq., yet political bitterness has been carried so far that it has been privately whispered around that the Governor was never an enlisted man at all. At the time the motive for this was not understood, but now it is apparent. The effort was made to support the very serious charge now publicly made that he was never anything but "a staff officer," and being of such a class he could not have done his duty as faithfully as Captain Kolb, whom his Morgan county organ claims was a better soldier, because he was a "line officer."

If the Morgan scribe knew enough about Governor Jones to know that he had been a staff officer during the war, he knew also what kind of an officer he was. He knew that he was "conspicuous" not for his absence, but for his presence on the line of battle. It will provoke a smile of derision from every old soldier of the army of Northern Virginia to be told that a man who rode beside John B. Gordon, the great infantry commander in Virginia, was not as much exposed to bullets as Captain Kolb of the artillery.

Gordon, when here on the occasion of President Davis' visit, on introducing Governor Jones before his lecture at McDonald's Opera House, spoke of him as one who was "assigned to my staff, when a beardless boy; who was with me in whatever trials I experienced myself during the war; who never failed to discharge his duty willingly but gladly, whatever might be the promised cost." The audience at the Opera House, and the readers of the papers next day, remember the instances the general mentioned of his distinguished gallantry; particularly that at Hares Hill where he volunteered to carry an order, under terrible fire, and "left his track in his blood in doing so." Robert E. Lee, who was near Gordon and heard what transpired between Gordon and his staff officer sent his "personal thanks to the brave young Alabamian." And yet this "staff officer" not yet out of his teens, who won the thanks of Robert E. Lee and John B. Gordon, and shed his blood in defense of his country, is assailed by innuendo by this Morgan County organ, as not having done his duty as well as Kolb, because forsooth one was a "staff officer" and the other "a line officer." Such malice does Gov. Jones no harm, and does not benefit Captain Kolb.

SUFFERING IN ARKANSAS.

Appalling Poverty Among Whites as Well as Blacks.

PINE BLUFF, ARK., May 23.—The destitution among the flood sufferers, white as well as black, between Little Rock and the mouth of the Arkansas River is appalling. This city and its vicinity are filled with thousands of refugees. The cotton crop all along the river is totally destroyed, and it is hard to tell on what the farmers will live this summer. The Government boat C. B. Reese arrived here this evening from the upper river, where she supplied 1,500 half-finished people on seventeen different landings with provisions furnished by the citizens of Little Rock. Hundreds of people were taken along and put off on dry places. At Eagle's Landing 120 people were found living in three houses. Two men were seen drowning by the crew and four rescued from house tops where they for hours found refuge.

The report reached here tonight from the Government steamer Wichita, sent to the lower river with provisions by Pine Bluff citizens, that 650 more people were fed and rescued from their perilous positions.

The town of Auburn is flooded, owing to a break in Braunton levee. The rich plantations at Baukhead, Green Bank and Swan Lake are entirely submerged and the planters refuse further supplies to their hands. An urgent appeal for assistance was sent here from Sherill, and at a mass meeting $1,650 was subscribed in an hour. A flotilla of Government boats is continually on the river bringing succor to the helpless victims of the flood.

Dr. C. J. Clark, and family of Selma, Ala., have moved to Jacksonville and will spend the summer here.

FORNEY OF ALABAMA. WANTS ECONOMY PRACTICED.

The Honor Roll A Roll of Shame.
Washington, D. C., May 21.—Forney, of Alabama, offered an amendment providing that the board of managers of the national homes for disabled volunteer soldiers shall apply an excess over $5 per month of pensions of all inmates to the support of the home, except where the inmate has a dependent wife child or parent.

This gave rise to a good deal of discussion, and was vigorously opposed. In advocating the amendment Snodgrass, of Tennessee, said that the pension roll which should be a roll of honor had become owing to the legislation of the republican party, a roll of dishonor.

Bland, of Missouri, commented upon the large expenditures made by the present congress and attributed many of them to the legislation of the 51st congress.

He referred more especially to the dependent pension act which he announced his willingness to repeal. He demanded economy and he demanded that the wealth of the country be taxed. There should be tariff reduction all along the line, and the tariff tax should be supplemented by an income tax. Forney's amendment was adopted 96 to 20.

The State Convention is only two weeks off from to-day. The State Committee will meet here on June 2, and the real work of the Convention may be said to begin then. It is very important that every member of the Committee should be present at that time, so that what is done may be fully understood, and so that calm, dispassionate judgment may be exercised in determining all points at issue. Let every member promptly attend.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Dr. B. D. Williams, of Oxford, Ala., will address the pupils of Weavers High School, Friday June 3rd at 3 o'clock p. m. in the interest of education.

Dr. Williams is a logical reasoner, fine orator and enthusiastic in educational work. We are glad to have him with us. All are cordially invited to be present and especially the patrons of the school. Come out and hear the doctor.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

No Boom, But Things Continue to be Lively.

Rather embarrassing.—Saturday evening last a lone woman arrived by stage and announced herself as the wife of Major Blake, our justly popular town marshal. As the major had a wife and two children in his home on Cactus avenue it doubtless made things somewhat embarrassing for him. He might have wriggled out of it, however, but for the appearance of a second lone woman on Monday noon, who also claimed to be his wife. This made three on the major's hands at once, and all threatening to shoot, and it is no wonder he broke for the brush.

We don't know how the major intends to arrange matters, but it seems to us that some sort of a satisfactory understanding can easily be arrived at. There are 100 men in this town just as good as the mayor who will marry these extra wives tomorrow and provide them with good homes. There is no use of three women chasing up one man in this neighborhood. If they will call at the Kicker office we think we can arrange matters so that each and every one will enjoy much happiness in the future.

Not Captious.—We don't want to find fault with the way the corner conducts the affairs of his office, but we do feel like throwing out a gentle suggestion that we believe is worthy of consideration. In three different instances where he has gone over to Clinch Valley to inquire on bodies found hanging to trees the verdicts have been "Cause unknown." There should be no hesitancy in stating that the deceased was hanged. If he hadn't deserved hanging he wouldn't have got there, and no one will blame the crowd who pulled on the rope. Some of the executed may have relatives who will want to know all about it, and they should not be deceived into believing that it was a case of mountain fever or heart failure. The great and glorious vest has a reputation for truth and veracity to maintain, and all official facts should be given straight from the shoulder.

He Was Too Fresh.—Every man has individual characteristics and eccentricities, and where they are harmless they should be overlooked. We have in some manner contracted the habit or eccentricity of spitting tobacco juice on the right foot of any person we may happen to be talking with on the street. We do this unconsciously and with the best of motives. It is just as natural for us to do it as it is for a coyote to strike a goat of thirty miles an hour when a dog gets after him. All our citizens know this and excuse the action. The other day a stranger from Hiko, Nev., who was looking our town over, stopped us in front of the First National bank to ask for information. While posing him our eccentricity probably developed itself. We don't know that it did, but we judge so from the fact that he suddenly jumped back, drew his gun and began blazing away. He had fired four shots before Judge Hopkins, who was near at hand, could collar and disarm him. His bullets cut two buttons off our vest and grazed the hide under our left arm.

The usual crowd gathered, and when the boys learned the facts in the case the stranger was disarmed and ordered to leave town on the 4 o'clock stage. He went. It was the general opinion that he was altogether too fresh for this locality. We don't want the inference to go out that a stranger, who won't permit us to spit on his boots, has no rights in this town, and that his life will be in danger at the hands of a mob. We simply reiterate that we have some peculiarities, and it is a great deal better for a stranger to ask for an explanation or demand an apology before beginning to shoot.

A Disappointed Lot.—The cowboys over at Lone Tree got word the other day that his the mayor (who is ourself) would pass through that town on the regular coach at 12 o'clock noon. They gathered to the number of forty, with a beautiful new rope bought for the occasion, and when the coach drew up at the postoffice they made a rush for it. There were only two passengers—a little, dried up, red headed man with asthma, and a fat woman from Bald Knob, who was going east to join a side show. The boys succeeded in scattering the two into fits, but got no other satisfaction. The chap they were after was far, far away, attending strictly to his duties as editor of a great weekly paper and mayor of the liveliest town in the untrammeled west. It's no use, boys. We like to have you visit our town, and we like to see you enjoy yourselves, but you can't run things as in the old days. You've got to knuckle to laws and ordinances, same as other folks, and it is a waste of time to put up jobs on the mayor. He knows his gait, and he isn't going to be choked to death in no such offhand fashion. M. QUAD.

"UNCLE JOHN."

Another life has sped beyond the dark waters of death. Another mild and gentle soul has breathed its last and "crossed over the river to rest under the shade of the trees."

Another chair is vacant around the family hearth-stone, and one of the noblest works of God is sadly missed by a wide circle of friends and relatives.

Yes, John B. Abernathy is gone! On Sunday night, 22nd of May, after a short illness, at the residence of Wm. C. Crow he died. Only a few days before he was with us in our "Beat Convention, in ordinary health for one of his age. True to his life-long convictions and usage he would come to the democratic Convention. He was 55 years old last April. He came to this section in the early fifties, and was a man of means before the war. He was never married. He was a consistent member of the Episcopal church, and one of its earliest supporters.

Uncle John's life was a beautiful poem. He possessed the sweetest of natures, mild-tempered, upright and refined. His voice was never raised in anger, nor in slander towards his fellows, and, as of Abel Ben Adhem it could be written "count me as one who loved his fellow man."

Enemies he had none, friends were reckoned by the scope of his acquaintance. Truly a good man hath left us, and our loss is his gain.

Uncle John was a life-long democrat and revealed in the possession of its principles, and the illustration of its tenets, and he expressed the wish, at our last convention, "that he might live till the August election."

"May our last end be like his!" ONE.

FACING A LION.

He Tried for a Thousand, but Got Only Ten.

In one of the side shows connected with the circus was a cage with a single lion in it. On the cage was a placard reading: "This beast has killed ten men. One thousand dollars to any one who dares enter his cage." A big sign to the same effect was hung up outdoors, and those who didn't go in to see the fat boy and the mermaid surely wanted to gaze on the lion. There was a good crowd in, and the lecturer was about to begin on the mermaid when a little old man was bowlegged and humpbacked crowded to the front and said:

"Look here, mister, I want a try for that thousand dollars. Gimme a show at that lion."

"My friend, do you want to be torn into dog meat?" asked the lecturer in reply. "You wouldn't live thirty seconds after entering the cage."

"Is he a Numidian lion?"

"He is, and one of the most savage beasts ever captured."

"Killed ten men, eh?"

"Wall, I'd like to tackle him. I want that thousand dollars mighty bad jest now, and I'm willing to run considerable risk. Gimme a fair show, will ye?"

"You keep right away from his cage. No man in liquor should get within ten feet of a Numidian lion."

"I haven't drunk a drop of liquor in ten years!" indignantly exclaimed the old man. "Darn you and your old Numidian lion to boot! You ain't willin' to give a man a show!"

He backed off and the lecturer delivered the oration on the mermaid. He was about to begin on the fat boy when the Numidian lion uttered a series of roars, and everybody's attention was attracted to the cage.

The little old man had slipped around and opened the door and entered. Not only that, but he had that lion by the tail, and was dragging him backward around the cage. Men shouted and women shrieked, and the lecturer rushed forward and shrieked:

"Man! man! but you must be mad."

"Never felt better nattered in my life!" replied the old man as he stopped to rest.

"Come out at once or you'll be torn to pieces!"

"I rather guess not! There's only one Numidian critter in here, and he don't seem to be on the tear very much. He-up, here, you old moss-back, and take another promenade!"

He was drawing the beast around the cage again when the lecturer entered it and said something in a low voice.

"Make it ten and I'll do it!" replied the old man in loud tones. "You said you'd give a thousand, but being its hard times for money I'll let you off easy. Make 'er ten and pay me before I let go of his tail!"

It was handed to him then and there, and he descended, wiped his hands on the grass, and feelingly observed to the circle of admirers:

"During my life, but when a man brings any sort of a thing into town and sends out a deft 'im right on deck! That's the first critter from Numidia I ever tackled, but I'll be lookin' for more from this on. Everybody come out and have some red lemonade!"—Exchange.

Figure 1 is a line graph illustrating the percentage of the total sample for various age groups across different years. The y-axis represents the percentage of the total sample, ranging from 0 to 100. The x-axis represents the years, with labels for 1980, 1990, 2000, 2010, and 2020. The age groups are categorized as 0-14, 15-24, 25-34, 35-44, 45-54, 55-64, 65-74, and 75+. The graph shows a general trend of decreasing percentages for younger age groups and increasing percentages for older age groups over time.
